DAN H WARD, DDS

“Creating Method to your Madness; Directly and Indirectly”

Friday, January 20, 2023

~ Sinclair College, Bldg. #12, Dayton OH~

~ 6 CEUs ~

Registration 8:30am

Seminar is 9:00am – 4:30pm

Co-Sponsored by

(GC AMERICA INC.)

TOPICS:

The world has dramatically changed as we must too. In the morning, we will update advances in direct restorations. Single shade composites, universal bonding agents, bulk-fill and bioactive materials are the latest buzz. We will get past the hype and learn how they can be effectively used.

During the afternoon, we will focus on indirect restorations. Effective communication and treatment planning are imperative. Proportional smile design tempered with personality traits can be used to create smiles that fit and match the patient. Finally, with all the all-ceramic materials available it can be difficult to make the best choice. We will show examples of each, how to prepare, provisionalize, and seat them for long term success. This presentation will update you on the latest materials and techniques.

OBJECTIVES: At the conclusion of the seminar, the dentist should be able to:

- Understand the trend towards single shade and reduced shade composites
- Learn about the latest advancements in bonding agents
- Demystify the hype around bioactive materials
- Learn how to effectively communicate with digital dental photography
- Design smiles using proportional and personality-based models
- Select the ideal all-ceramic crowns to use in each situation
